

Provita Eurotech established in 1990, have a strong portfolio of products including Provita Protect, the world's first medicinally licensed probiotic and Hoofsure Endurance, the market leading footbath solution. Provita have an extensive research and development department which has allowed it to develop a range of products specific to a wide range of species including cattle, sheep, poultry, pigs and small animals which are sold both domestically and globally. Due to company expansion, various positions are available throughout the UK. Career progression opportunities are available for the right candidate.

Farm Sales Representative

You will be responsible for selling a complete range of dairy, sheep and beef supplements to farmers. It is essential that farmers are educated on correct usage as well as how the products can benefit their productivity. As our products are distributed through agricultural merchants and vets, you will need to attend store open days and provide support to their representatives when necessary.

Candidate:

You must have proven sales experience in the agricultural industry and be comfortable with selling to farmers. You will be an excellent communicator with a track record of strong established relationships within the agricultural industry. You will be a self motivated individual with the ability to integrate into a dynamic working environment. You will hold a UK driving license and have access to your own car. Ideally you will be AMTRA qualified.

Closing Date: Wednesday 30th November 2011

Provita is an equal opportunity employer.
