

Sales Account Managers Scotland / England / Wales

Provita has a strong portfolio of animal health products including Provita Protect, the world's first medicinally licensed probiotic and Hoofsure Endurance, the market leading footbath solution. Provita has an extensive research and development department which has allowed it to develop a range of products specific to a wide range of species including cattle, sheep, poultry, pigs and small animals which are sold both domestically and globally.

These positions will be based in GB working from home. The successful candidates will have experience in the animal healthcare/agricultural environment with a solid track record of sales achievement. Seeking only the best, highly motivated individuals we offer an excellent benefits package associated with a growth company in the animal healthcare sector including a competitive salary and substantial commission earnings, ongoing support and commitment, together with technical and product training.

Essential Criteria

- At least 3 of the past five years in animal health / agriculture related sales.
- Proven track record of developing new and existing business
- Strong organisational skills and ability to work under pressure
- Proven self starter
- HND/ in agriculture or life science degree, or above.
- Clean current driving license
- Strong written, numerical and ICT skills
- Ability to attend exhibitions, domestic and abroad if required.

If you feel you have the necessary background, experience and enthusiasm to be considered for this excellent career opportunity as Sales Account Manager, please forward your CV or contact Provita direct for an application form.

Closing Date: Wednesday 20th January 2012
Provita is an equal opportunity employer.

Candidates should forward their CV
by e-mail to careers@provita.co.uk or by post to
Provita, 21 Bankmore Rd, Omagh,
Co. Tyrone BT79 0EU